THE ROYAL EDINBURGH MILITARY TATTOO

YOUTH TALENT DEVELOPMENT FUND 2020

FUNDING GUIDELINES

THE ROYAL
EDINBURGH

Introduction

One of the principal objectives of The Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo is to promote and encourage the arts, culture and heritage and/or the study of the arts, culture and heritage in Edinburgh and across Scotland. The organisation is proud to have supported arts charities and projects since it was established almost 70 years ago and is pleased to partner with Creative Scotland to deliver the Youth Talent Development Fund for a third year.

The Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo Youth Talent Development Fund 2019 is aimed at nurturing the ambition, enthusiasm and talent of young people engaged across the art form areas of traditional music and dance in Scotland. The fund will support projects that create new opportunities for young people to shine in traditional arts, celebrate their achievements locally and nationally and build the capacity of the sector to support more young people to experience the traditional arts, particularly piping, drumming, Highland dance and traditional fiddle playing.

Purpose of the fund

Through this fund, we will support traditional arts projects such as piping, drumming, Highland dance and traditional fiddle playing, for young people from across Scotland with a range of experience and skill levels.

The funding is available to enable organisations and groups to create something new and of quality through:

- The development of artistic skills – to bring in external specialists/tutors and/or to permit professional development to progress the artistic skills of both young people and their leaders.
- Innovative creative collaborations – to allow for groups/organisations to collaborate with local, regional or national partners to develop new ideas and ways of working with young people.
- The creation of new composition and/or choreography – to allow for the commissioning of an entirely new and original work for groups/organisations working with young people to develop and/or perform.
- The transfer of skills – to provide the opportunity for young people to try something new across the indicated art form areas.

Types of activity we will support

Applications should demonstrate the additional value that the project will bring to an organisation's core work. For organisations seeking to apply for further funding for a project that was previously supported through the REMT Youth Talent Development Fund, your application should demonstrate how the project will create new opportunities for young people not currently engaged to participate and/or how it will enable young people already involved to develop new skills. Please note that activities which have already happened or are scheduled to begin before we reach a decision on your application will not be eligible for funding.

Applications must involve traditional instruments, music and/or dance, and proposals associated with piping, drumming, Highland dance or traditional fiddle playing are likely to be prioritised. The Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo recognises the diversity of traditional arts that currently exist within communities across Scotland and welcomes applications from organisations that work with these.

We will accept applications for projects which focus just on traditional music, traditional dance or on a combination of both. Within this, applicants can apply for projects which involve just one type of music activity (such as piping or fiddle playing) or projects which incorporate several types of traditional music together or with contemporary music, or which combine traditional music and traditional dance activity together.

Projects will work toward a creative output which is to be presented or shared at either a local, regional or national level – e.g. a live performance, a sharing, a recording, a screening of a film etc.

Funding available

The total budget available is £150,000 with a minimum award of £5,000 and a maximum award of £20,000.

Programme Outcomes

Successful applications will be expected to describe how project activity aligns to each of the following programme outcomes:

1. Nurturing and celebrating ambition, enthusiasm and talent across one or more of the indicated art forms.
2. Enhance the skills of both young people and the leaders of those young people.
3. Create new opportunities to contribute to and celebrate traditional Scottish art forms.

Within the proposed programme, activity targeted at specific age groups within 5-26 yrs will be considered.

Criteria

Successful applications will have to demonstrate and be assessed against the following criteria:

- 1. A robust and engaging project idea that demonstrates:
  - i. the development of artistic skills;
  - ii. innovative creative collaborations; or
  - iii. the creation of new composition and/or choreography.
- 2. That there is a clear creative or physical output to be presented or shared at either a local, regional or national level.
- 3. Consideration of legacy for the groups/organisation following the projects' completion.
- 4. Evidence of demand from young people for the proposed project or a gap in provision that the project will address.
- 5. Activity must be delivered by skilled and experienced project staff with evidence of a track record in working with young people. Teaching artists involved in the project should have proven track records of delivering quality youth arts provision and should have relevant qualifications or experience in relation to the art form activity they will deliver.
- 6. A clear approach to identifying and addressing barriers to participation for young people of all geography, backgrounds and ability.
- 7. That key outcomes of the funding programme are being addressed.

For organisations seeking to apply for further funding for a project that was previously supported through the REMT Youth Talent Development Fund, there are three additional criteria that must be met:

1. Demonstrate how the project will create new opportunities for young people not currently engaged to participate; or
2. Demonstrate how the project will enable young people already involved to develop new skills; and
3. Detail the lessons learned during the previous project and how they will be put into practice during its continuation.

All project delivery should take place between 1 April 2020 and March 31 2021.

Who can apply?

This fund is open to any arts or cultural organisations based in Scotland, who can provide an effective proposal to meet the criteria of the fund.

The project activity being funded must directly involve groups of young people living in Scotland. Groups are to be classed as consisting of three or more young people and at least 90% of members in the group (excluding adult leaders) should be aged between 5-26 years.

Organisations already in receipt of Creative Scotland Regular Funding, Open Project Funding or other Targeted Funds are eligible to apply but need to clearly demonstrate that the activity being proposed is separate from existing activity.

For general details of the types of organisations and groups who can apply, please refer to the Creative Scotland website.

Who cannot apply?

Applications will not be accepted from:

- Individuals.
- Local authorities as lead applicants, although they can be part of a partnership.
- Schools and associated organisations, such as Parent Teacher Associations, applying for funding as part of the school curriculum. Applications for activity that will take place in partnership with schools but outside of the curriculum will be accepted, and should come from the lead arts, cultural or community group, demonstrating how the project will add real value to the learning experience.
- Funding for formal education programmes, or activities which are solely focussed on supporting current HE/FE education students.
- Groups/organisations looking for equipment only, or support with ongoing running costs.

In addition, this fund will not support applications which propose to create permanent full-time or part-time posts.

Additional responsibilities

Budget:

In addition to completing Section D in the Application Form, we require applicants to submit a separate single page budget, ideally using a spreadsheet such as Excel.

Your budget information must balance. That means your income should be the same as your costs (or expenditure). You can apply to us for 100% of the project costs if required – in which case all your project income will come from this fund. But if there is other income, either cash or in-kind, then you should tell us about this.

We need to be able to see how you have worked your figures out, so please break them down clearly in the costs table - giving us, wherever possible, details on how you've reached the figures quoted. If your budget includes in-kind contributions, please ensure that you clearly show the value of the in-kind contribution in your budget income, as well as where it sits in your expenditure (the in-kind activity must appear in both sides of your budget).

The budget should be for the total cost of the activity. Please note all costs you use should be in full pounds only - any costs in pence must be rounded up to the nearest pound.

Costs which you can include in your budget are:

- Professional time (artists, tutors, industry experts to support young people in a range of roles).
- Staff (for ongoing support of young people in a range of roles).
- Venue/equipment hire, where appropriate.
- Instrument/equipment costs of up to 30% of the project's total budget.
- Training and continuing professional development costs for project staff, music tutors and trainees of up to 5% of total budget.
- Marketing.
- Associated travel costs.
- Monitoring and evaluation.

Please note that we are committed to ensuring that activities we fund are inclusive and accessible to a wide range of participants and therefore we encourage you to include relevant access costs. For example: British Sign Language interpretation; audio description and captioning; access assistants if required to support travel; or any costs relating to Gaelic/Scots translation.

We would ask that you pay particularly close attention to the costs you allocate for paying the people involved in delivering your project. Creative Scotland is committed, through any activities we support, to ensuring that artists, staff and other creative professionals are paid appropriately for their time and effort. We therefore expect applications to reference relevant industry standards on rates of remuneration where they exist. For more information on this, see our Rates of Pay guidance document on the Creative Scotland website.

Reporting:

Successful applications will be required to submit an End of Project Report to establish that projects have been delivered as per the original proposal. Please note that 25% of funding will be retained by Creative Scotland and only issued on satisfactory receipt of this report.

The Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo would be interested in engaging with successful projects to understand first-hand the outcomes of the funding. We will therefore anticipate applicants hosting at least one visit from a representative from the charity at an appropriate time. There may also be opportunities for young people to connect and be involved in the Tattoo in the future.
