

Scotland's Jazz - visual description

This promotional video for jazz in Scotland shows an incredible array of performances and shots of Scotland. It opens on a view of Edinburgh from Calton Hill, sweeping over the city centre featuring a hilltop with many striking ancient monuments.

Scotland's flag, with a white cross on a blue background flutters in the wind against a bright sky, before we pan over views of islands, and back to Edinburgh.

We then start to see our first performance shots, with kick drums beating to the time of the background music, a pianist at a keyboard, a cellist and then a saxophonist.

This range of shots continues on throughout the minute long video, showing a range of shots of Scotland and instruments, all demonstrating the varied and exciting nature of jazz in Scotland, before finally we see a graphic of overlaid imagery of a landscape, a silhouette on a blue and pink background.
